NewsBank inc.

Rural Voters Like MAHA. They Just Don't Think It's Working.

September 30, 2026 | Mother Jones
Author: Sophie Hurwitz | Section: Food | 236 Words
OpenURL Link

A new poll from the Associated Press and KFF shows that while half of rural voters support the Trump administration's Make America Healthy Again policies, most also say those policies have not benefited their communities.

About 7 out of 10 rural voters went for Donald Trump in the 2024 election. But now, about 8 out of 10 rural voters polled say the administration's healthcare platform—which includes abandoning long-standing vaccine policies, researching ultraprocessed foods, criticizing Big Ag, and promoting a red-meat-heavy diet—has "had a negative effect or no impact on the health of people where they live," according to the AP/KFF poll of 2,241 rural voters, released today. 68 percent of those who self-identified as MAHA supporters agreed: while they support Health Secretary Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and his MAHA platform, it isn't making them healthier.

At Mother Jones, we've been tracking the fractures in the Make America Healthy Again movement in partnership with the Food & Environment Reporting Network. Read more below.

Women Built MAHA. MAGA Bros Have Taken It Over.

Forget regulating food—manly MAHA cares about meat, testosterone, and erectile dysfunction.

The California Lawmaker Forcing Big Food to Clean Up Its Act

While DC dithers, Jesse Gabriel has quietly become America's de facto food safety chief.

Zach Lahn Is MAHA's Great Farm Country Hope. Is He the Populist Hero He Claims to Be?

He's running for Iowa governor on promises to bust up Big Ag. But some farmers are questioning his authenticity.

Copyright (c) 2026 Foundation for National Progress.

- Citation (apa Style)
  Hurwitz, S. (2026, September 30). Rural Voters Like MAHA. They Just Don't Think It's Working.Mother Jones. Available from NewsBank: Access World News – Historical and Current: https://infoweb.newsbank.com/apps/news/document-view?p=WORLDNEWS&docref=news/1AAF5B6ACD110820.