Newsom signs new law that will forever change restaurants in California

October 10, 2025 | CE Noticias Financieras: English
Section: News | 294 Words
OpenURL Link

On October 9, he signed into law two bills that will provide key assistance to the restaurant industry by reducing red tape and regulation to make it easier for small businesses to open and operate.By signing two bills into law in downtown Los Angeles, announced in a press release on his official website, the governor of the Golden State moved forward with measures to benefit small businesses in the region.Florida hands out free food pantries from October 7 to 12: where and how to get foodICE arrested a migrant, accused him of drug trafficking and he turned out to be a popular Latino athlete in the United StatesThese Florida workers are more protected since October thanks to two new laws signed by Ron DeSantisTo develop the bills, the governor counted on the significant participation of restaurant owners. The bill known as AB 592, championed by Assemblyman Jesse Gabriel, allows restaurants with open kitchens to install windows, folding doors or non-fixed storefronts. According to the governor's office, this measure gives restaurant owners greater flexibility in providing outdoor facilities.The second bill, dubbed AB 671, cuts unnecessary red tape and preserves essential health and safety protections. In this regard, Newsom's office detailed that it creates a voluntary, expedited pathway for permitting small, independent restaurants seeking to modernize their existing spaces.Thus, licensed architects and engineers will be able to self-certify simple plans while maintaining all required inspections and safety controls. California's small businesses by the numbers Within the press release, the governor included official data on small businesses in California, which total more than 4'200,000. These businesses, which employ more than 7,000,000 people, or nearly half of the state's private sector workforce, are growing rapidly and account for more than 99.9 percent of all businesses in the state.

Copyright © 2025 ContentEngine, LLC, All rights reserved.

- Citation (apa Style)
  Newsom signs new law that will forever change restaurants in California. (2025, October 10)CE Noticias Financieras: English. Available from NewsBank: Access World News – Historical and Current: https://infoweb.newsbank.com/apps/news/document-view?p=WORLDNEWS&docref=news/1A3A5F0630482738.