NewsBank inc.

Here's how L.A. County's Assembly races were headed in early returns

November 4, 2020 | Pasadena Star-News: Web Edition Articles (CA)
Author: Staff report | Section: News | 867 Words
OpenURL Link

Here's a glimpse of how Assembly races that involve Los Angeles County voters were headed on Tuesday night.

See the latest election results

District 36: Incumbent Tom Lackey, a moderate Republican from Palmdale, took the lead in his effort to stave off Democrat Steve Fox. The district includes a wide swath of Eastern Kern, Northern L.A., and Western San Bernardino counties.

District 37: Incumbent Karen Bass, who was strongly considered as Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden's running mate, earned nearly 90% of the votes as she sailed past challenger Errol Webber on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

District 38: With Christy Smith leaving this office that represents Granada Hills, Porter Ranch and Santa Clarita, an all-GOP showdown resulted., Suzette Martinez Valladares eased in front of Lucie Lapointe Volotzky.

District 39: Progressive Democrat incumbent Luz Rivas, a former L.A. Public Works Commissioner, jumped in front of Republican Ricardo Benitez in this district that includes Pacoima, Sun Valley, Sylmar and San Fernando.

District 41: Democrat Chris Holden, former mayor and city councilmember of Pasadena, led Republican Robin A. Hvidston in this San Gabriel Valley district.

District 43: Progressive incumbent Laura Friedman aimed to turn away Republican Mike Graves in her home district that includes Burbank, Glendale and La Cañada Flintridge. She took a big early lead.

District 44: Jacqui Irwin (D-Thousand Oaks) led early and was expected to fend off Republican Denise Pedrow in this district that incudes Westlake Village, Camarillo, Moorpark and Oxnard.

District 45: Incumbent Democrat Jesse Gabriel, who twice sued the Trump administration over DACA, led Republican Jeffi Girgenti in this district spread throughout L.A. and Ventura counties, including Calabasas, Canoga Park, Encino, Northridge, Reseda, Woodland Hills and Tarzana.

District 46: Incumbent Democrat Adrin Nazarian, the first Iranian-American to be elected to the Legislature, jumped out in front of fellow Democrat Lanira K. Murphy in this San Fernando Valley-steeped district.

District 48: Democrat Blanca Rubio ran unopposed.

District 49: Incumbent Democrat Edwin Chau, who introduced the California Consumer Privacy Act, took an early lead over Republican Burton Brink. The district includes Alhambra, Arcadia, El Monte, Montebello, Monterey Park, Rosemead, San Gabriel, San Marino and Temple City.

District 50: Incumbent Democrat Richard Bloom, who's held this seat since 2012, took the lead over fellow Democrat Will Hess in this area that includes Agoura Hills, Beverly Hills, Bel Air, Brentwood, Hollywood, Malibu and Santa Monica.

District 51: Democrat Wendy Carrillo ran unopposed.

District 52: Incumbent Democrat Freddie Rodriguez took an early lead over Republican Toni Holle in this district that straddles L.A. and San Bernardino counties, including Pomona, Chino, Montclair, and Ontario.

District 53: Incumbent Democrat Miguel Santiago jumped in front of progressive newcomer Godfrey Santos Plata, another Democrat. The largely Latino 53rd District includes Downtown L.A. and parts of Huntington Park, Boyle Heights, Koreatown, Little Tokyo and Vernon.

District 54: Incumbent Democrat Sydney Kamlager, running on criminal justice reform, jumped in front of fellow Democrat Tracy Bernard Jones. The diverse 54th includes Culver City, Baldwin Hills, Century City, Crenshaw, West LA, Westwood and Windsor Hills.

District 55: GOP incumbent Phillip Chen faced a stern challenge from Democrat Andrew Rodriguez. He fell behind early in a tight race but surged back into the lead early Wednesday in the affluent district, which includes Chino Hills, Brea, Diamond Bar, La Habra, Industry, Placentia, Rowland Heights, Walnut and Yorba Linda.

District 57: With Ian Calderon is leaving office at the end of his term, his stepmother Lisa Calderon aimed to replace him, running against Republican Jessica Martinez. In early returns, Calderon appeared to be keeping the seat in the family. The district includes La Mirada, Hacienda Heights, Industry, La Puente, Norwalk, Santa Fe Springs and Whittier.

District 58: Incumbent Democrat Cristina Garcia led early and was expected to cruise past Green Party nominee Margaret Villa. The district includes Artesia, Bell Gardens, Bellflower, Commerce, Downey, Montebello and Norwalk.

District 59: In an all-Democrat matchup, incumbent Reginald Jones-Sawyer led Efren Martinez. The district includes Florence-Graham, South Central, University Park, Vermont-Slauson and Walnut Park.

District 62: Progressive Democrat incumbent Autumn Burke took an early lead over Republican Robert Steele, a booster of President Trump who supports a wall on the Mexican border. District 62 is home to 467,000 people spread through the South Bay, Westside and South L.A.

District 63: Anthony Rendon (D-Lakewood) led fellow Democrat Maria Estrada early on. Rendon has a history of voting pro-environment, for moderate police oversight and for protections for tenants. The 63rd is home to about 460,000 residents in Bell, Cudahy, Hawaiian Gardens, Lakewood, Lynwood, Paramount, South Gate and parts of Long Beach.

District 64: Mike Gipson (D-Carson), who recently sponsored a bill to establish civilian oversight over sheriff's departments, pushed ahead of teacher and fellow Democrat Fatima Iqbal-Zubair. The district includes Carson, Compton, Willowbrook and parts of Long Beach, Harbor Gateway and Wilmington.

District 66: Al Muratsuchi (D-Rolling Hills Estates) jumped out to an early lead over conservative Republican Arthur Schaper. District 66 is home to 468,000 people in Hermosa Beach, Manhattan Beach, the Palos Verdes communities, Redondo Beach and Torrance.

District 70: Democrat incumbent Patrick O'Donnell, a strong voice for public education and labor, was not expected to face much pressure from Republican David Thomas. The coastal area includes Avalon, Long Beach, L.A., San Pedro and Signal Hill.

Copyright © 2020 Pasadena Star-News

- Citation (apa Style)
  report, S. (2020, November 4). Here's how L.A. County's Assembly races were headed in early returns.Pasadena Star-News: Web Edition Articles (CA). Available from NewsBank: Access World News – Historical and Current: https://infoweb.newsbank.com/apps/news/document-view?p=WORLDNEWS&docref=news/17E8A38BC8FFC1B8.